

Boss Lady I

Call for Price

Domestic serenity and a place of refuge is reflected in this modernist piece – a space that clearly reflects a lair that is home to a woman of style and substance. T his is how Olatoye edifies his own mother and others like her – a Boss Lady, who has risen up in a patriarchal society to find her own power as an independent woman, without denying her fundamental status as a mother.

| Frame | None |
|--------|-----------------------|
| Medium | Mixed media on canvas |
| Height | 120.00 cm |
| Width | 120.00 cm |
| Artist | David Olatoye |
| Year | 2022 |

