

A Tribute to Bertina Lopes (II)

R 20,000.00

The artwork is inspired by a moment of discovery, while in studio working on one of my new expressions, a friend looking at catalogues finds an image of a piece by Bertina Lopes titled (Enterrei a minha), and jokingly asks Is this yours? I take a look and the first thing that comes to mind is how much of what we make and think is new has actually found itself here before... and it reminds me of the phrase "Nothing new under the sun" Many things/ideas that appear new are not really new at all. This piece is a tribute to Bertina Lopes in honor of her knowledge which I feel is now passed on to me in a very intuitive way. "Long live the knowledge passed down by intuitions".
